

Click On Disclaimer

Click On's role is purely that of operating a series of generic websites that display advertising content drawn from relevant advertiser's corporate websites and that also allows consumers to link through to the relevant advertiser's corporate website where additional information and content is available.

Other 'links' may appear on the generic website that 'link' to other third parties and information.

Inaccuracies, typographical or other technical errors; formatting and programming issues; or computer viruses may exist in third party content and website.

Click On has no financial interest in any of the advertisers and makes no representations about the accuracy or suitability of the information displayed on or linked from this generic website.

The information is provided 'as is', without express or implied warranty. Consumers use the information and links at their own risk.

Except as set out below, Click On exclude all:

(a) warranties, whether express, implied, statutory or otherwise, relating in any way to this generic website or the consumers use of this generic website; and

(b) liability (including for negligence) to consumers in respect of any loss or damage (including special, indirect or consequential loss or damage such as loss of revenue, unavailability of systems or loss of data) arising from or in connection with any use of the information on or accessed through this generic website for any reason whatsoever (including negligence).

Where any statute implies any term into consumer's use of or any arrangement arising out of the accessing of this generic website and that statute prohibits exclusion of that term, then that term is included. If and to the extent permitted by the statute, however, Click On's liability for any breach of such term is limited to the resupply of these services.